SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR CAPITAL CITY

"Onlooker" Tells of Skyscrapers Going Up in Jackson and of Two Subdivisions, Hawthorne Hills and Cherokee Heights, Rapidly Selling Lots. Investigation by Lower House Committee into Fees Collected by Attorney General Brings in Former Tax Commission Head, Cecil Inman. Predicts Lower House Determined in Policy Regarding Certain Measures Advocated by Governor.

Grenada Sentinel:

Your "Onlooker" will give you some of the things that are being said and done around Jackson and about the State House. The citizens of any state are always more or less interested in what is transpiring at their state capital.

My first thought right now is about how Jackson is growing. The skyscraper buildings that are being planned, or under contract, will give a sure enough big city appearance. If the business of Jackson were not growing, and that rapidly, there would be no demand for these skyscraper structures, and you can bet your last dollar that unless the men who are behind these great structures either had contracts or renters of offices, etc., or saw where they were going to get good interest on their money, these high top buildings would hardly have been thought of. Almost everybody has many, many times heard the remark that Jackson had everything to make of it a real big city, and they wondered why it had been so long asleep. The city is centrally located. It has the railroad facilities and many other advantages enjoyed by no other place in the state. Perhaps, primarily, the reason that Jackson has just been like one squatted in the road so long is because the men of the town have not put their money in Jackson; rather have they chosen to invest in Memphis, New Orleans and other places. But a new spirit seems to have come over Jackson's financiers. They are now seeking to place their money in "non-taxable" securities, but to invest in Jackson, under the idea, no doubt, that in doing this they not only build for themselves but for their children and the children of the next generation. It has always been a serious question in my mind, notwithstanding the high taxes in Mississippi and the state's slipshod methods of business and taxation, whether one had really a moral right to take that which he had earned in a city or a community, and which his neighbors and friends had helped him to lay by, and place it where it was bearing no part of the public burdens of his community. Permit me to say just here (and I hope that this statement will not cause you to dump this letter into your waste basket) that I sometimes hear it said of your beautiful town that one of the main reasons that it is lagging in growth is because so many of your moneyed men have their money in securities that are paying state taxes. I note in your columns that you have a business organization of your young men. If that body functions as it should, it ought to be able to make Grenada get up and get in a business way. It sometimes is the case, however, that young men who undertake an organization such as I take it your young men have initiated, look too much to older heads who have been floundering for years. "Turn the boys loose" is the best policy, experience has shown. Your town is situated midway between Jackson and Memphis, and it seems at this distance that there is every reason why it should develop into a live, wide awake town of ten or fifteen thousand people.

But back to Jackson—and I am not seeking to use your space to write an advertisement of Jackson. In addition to skyscraper buildings, and other business ventures, new additions are being opened and every day, almost, sales are being made of residence lots in these new subdivisions. Two additions in the northern part of the city that are growing in popularity and that are destined to contain some of the most attractive residences in the city are Hawthorne Hills and Cherokee Heights. Hawthorne Hills is practically at the north end of North State Street and between the business section of Jackson and Cherokee Heights. If one will take the time to scan the real estate transfers which appear in the daily press of Jackson, he will learn how rapidly lots are being purchased in these new subdivisions. New residences are going up all over the city, but northward is the course that residence investors and residence builders are making their way in Jackson.

Of course your readers would be disappointed were this letter not to contain something about state affairs and what the public officials of the state are doing. Grenada County's man, Hon. C. C. Inman, was elected auditor at time

PHONE OFFICIAL DISCUSSES CHANGE IN LOCAL SYSTEM

At the invitation of the Grenada Rotary Club, Reuben Burroughs, a district official of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., with offices in Winona, discussed before the club at its Tuesday meeting the matter of changing the telephone system in Grenada, replacing the magneto system with the more modern flashlight or common battery system. Mr. Burroughs went into full details about the matter and very freely answered all questions propounded to him. He said that the change-over would involve an expenditure by his company of between $48,000 and $53,000, exclusive of building erection and that the company would want 18 months' time to effect the installation of the additional equipment. According to Mr. Burroughs, the company's equipment at Grenada represents now an investment of around $120,000 and last year the net profit on its Grenada business was 5.03%. He stated that the advantage to be gained by changing over to the flashlight system is that the service is speeded up about 50%.

After a full discussion of the matter, the club voted unanimously in favor of the change and the committee on public relations, consisting of S. H. Horton, J. H. Harris, J. B. Nichols, J. E. Shaw, Jr. and J. B. Horn, was named to arrange with the telephone company about the petitions to be circulated and to see to the securing of signatures to the petitions.

President Andrew Carothers announced with regret the resignation from the club of Harper Hughes, who has recently gone to Memphis to make his home. He also announced the election of a new member who will be present at next Tuesday's meeting.

At the opening of Tuesday's meeting, John Rundle read a poem, supposed to have been written by Ben Adams, on the subject, "B. J. Anderson—What Is He?" Mr. Adams disclaimed authorship and sought to lay the composition to Mr. Anderson, since the latter was praised in the highest terms.

Hon. Cowles Horton, of the local bar, was a guest at the luncheon. The last election, is more than making good. He is getting up data and publishing figures concerning the business of the state and of the counties that are vital to the economic welfare of Mississippi. There is another man at the state capital, your next door neighbor, Hon. Walker Wood, who is reflecting credit on those who sponsored his election. I mention only these two men for the reason that one of them came from Grenada County and the other from Winona, only twenty-five miles from you.

Gov. Bilbo and the legislature have sent in no truce flags but rather is each of them resting on his arms. It is evident to the mind that has any idea about politics and who knows human nature that there is an impassable gulf between the Governor and a majority of the members of the lower house. The press of the state is almost unitedly behind the membership of the lower house, and the newspaper which undertakes to belittle such men as Walter Sillers, Lawrence Kennedy, Joe George, Tom Bailey and others equally able in the lower house or to whip them into line with the Governor, just "don't know its onions". These men may be wrong but they are men who do not act hastily or unadvisedly. They are veteran legislators, men of integrity, and imbued, their friends believe, with honest aims and purposes. They may be wrong about positions they have taken in regard to legislation but it is not equally possible that the Governor is wrong? A majority of the lower house believes in these men and are thinking along the same lines that they are as shown by votes on many measures that have come before the house since Gov. Bilbo was inducted into office now more than a year ago. It would seem that the task of changing the mind or attitude of one man is a much less difficult one than in changing the minds of 60 men.

There is one legislative investigation that is on that is creating more and more interest all the while and that is the investigation of the fees collected by the Attorney General and the action in certain instances of Hon. Cecil Inman. The committee has called upon Mr. Inman to show where the money came from which it is stated he deposited in a certain bank. The statement has been made that Inman placed in the bank amounts so far in excess of his salary as to create many surmises. It is generally known that the Attorney General was given 15 per cent on all tax collections for penalties he collected. However, many are wondering at the state of the legislative mind that would make such an act about what the revenue agent was making while almost in the same breath passing an act that gave another state official the same power and authority which they took away from him. Many of the newspapers at the time were "pouncing" on the ac-

Must Be Educated To Joint Marketing

General Manager of Staple Cotton Association, W. M. Garrard, of Greenwood, Addresses Jackson School of Cooperation.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 12.—Cooperative marketing is a matter of education and its adoption among cotton growers can be secured only through this medium. W. M. Garrard, of Greenwood, general manager of the Staple Cotton Cooperative Association, said here today in an address before agriculturists and farmers attending the school of cooperation being held under the auspices of the Mississippi Cooperative Council.

"Cotton growers are independent, they have operated independently and have carried on their work without the assistance of any human agency," said Mr. Garrard, "and for these reasons have imagined that all forces were working against them."

"Therefore, it is going to take time and a lot of effort and educational propaganda to bring cotton growers as a body to accept cooperative marketing," he added.

"There are outside interests working day and night to defeat the efforts on the part of growers to cooperate with each other. The cotton buying fraternity is leaving nothing undone to discredit cooperative marketing and many banks are opposed either openly or secretly to cooperative marketing," continued Mr. Garrard.

"These are not the only adverse influences, there are others, and the members must be kept fully informed if they are to be able to answer the criticisms and charges made against cooperative marketing."

"The officers and executives of an association should be above reproach. Their methods of business conduct should be unquestioned. Unless associations select men of the highest type to supervise and operate the associations, it is going to take a long, long time to bring about anything approximating the ultimate aim of cooperative marketing."

"Educational work is being done by the Department of Agriculture in Washington, by the Extension Bureau and by many other agencies; but, the greatest educational work of all is that which can be done by the grower members of the organization."

"The range of the services cooperatives can advantageously perform for the grower extends from the purchase of raw materials used by the grower to the ultimate sale to consumer of the product grown or distributed by cooperatives," the staple manager said.

LITTLE BOY DIES

Johnnie A. Howell, Jr., 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Howell, of Scooby, died Sunday, Feb. 3, at Grenada Hospital after a brief illness. The remains were forwarded to Scooby where interment was had the next day after services conducted by Rev. J. R. G. Hewlett, of Charleston.

Death is a distressing thing always but it is doubly so when a little child is taken. Their innocence, their little joys and their little sorrows serve to endear them to their parents and as the years pass these ties grow stronger and stronger. But the sorrowing parents should console themselves that their little boy is now safe in the arms of Jesus where they may join him after they have finished life's journey.

The Sentinel tenders its sympathy.

Activities of the revenue agent and telling about how what he was doing was "hurting the state", and loudly proclaimed the official denouncing of the revenue agent as a "constructive act".

I believe The Grenada Sentinel stood alone among all the newspapers of Mississippi in calling attention at that time to the inconsistency of taking from Paul and giving to Peter. Nevertheless, the Attorney General is backed by legal enactment for making collections and taking the fees he did.

The one who "listens in" on conversations about the hotels and who sees many of the newspapers of the state must realize that the people of Mississippi have about made up their minds that taxes have reached the limit. Just the other day, I noted that the progressive city of Greenwood defeated a bond issue of $50,000. For several years the town or county who refused to vote bonds has been denominated as "communities not out of the woods". It is manifest that bond issue proposals are being given more careful thought by those who must pay them.

It remains to be seen whether Gov. Bilbo has the highway commission tied up, and likewise it will take the future to tell what will be the result of the Governor's fight on the commissioners charged with building a new insane hospital. It seems to your correspondent that he has over shot the mark.

ONLOOKER.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 12, 1929.

WINTER GRIPS COUNTRY

Winter has held sway throughout the whole country a week. The mercury started downward Saturday night, February 9. It went from 60 degrees during Saturday to the twenties by Sunday morning. It was even colder Sunday night, and while in midday, up until Wednesday morning, there was a mildness that tempered the cold of the nights, yet during the night time, winter seemed to take a firmer grip on the land. In the extreme centers of the mid-northwest, the mercury registered far below 80 below at some points as low as 80 below freezing was recorded. Much damage was done to the shipping interests on the high seas. Many are reported to have been caught in snow storms and to have frozen to death in the northwest.

In this state no serious damage was done to property. Possibly the cold has served to retard vegetation and maybe saved the fruit crop, however, old citizens have often been heard to say that February weather "never killed a peach crop".

The cold served coal dealers well. The truism, "it is an ill wind that brings nobody any good" was again fittingly shown.

The ground hog dared not show his head at noon, February 2, hence believers in the ground hog bogey say that there will be an early spring. One of the best assurances of an early spring is that Easter comes early this year—March 31.

NASH JANUARY SALES SHOW GREAT INCREASE

Kenosha, Wis.—The Nash Motors Company reports an increase in shipments for January over 77% greater than for the same month last year.

C. H. Bliss, Sales Manager of the company, in commenting on this significant increase, says: "With an auspicious beginning, 1929 starts off toward the fulfillment of our expectations of the greatest year in Nash history. We have just registered better than 77% gain in shipments for January, over the same month last year. From all sides, Nash dealers report greater accomplishments and glowing prospects for new sales records."

"For example, our retail deliveries at the country's principal distributing points, including New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, and other key cities, during the first two weeks of January show a 58% increase over the same period a year ago. This came on top of gains amounting to 38% and 40%, respectively, for the final weeks of the past December."

"Our export shipments for January also show a very substantial gain, topping those of the same month in 1928 by 41%."

"During the past eight months more than 110,000 of these new '400' series cars have been placed in the hands of owners."

"These increases in the volume of our business are all the more impressive from the fact that 1928 was a banner year for Nash. And we fully expect 1929 to prove by far the greatest year we have ever had."

GREAT YEAR FORECAST

Greater prosperity than ever before in the automotive industry and production in excess of 5,000,000 units in 1929, was the forecast of H. J. Klingler, General Sales Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who sounded the keynote of the sales campaign of Chevrolet to nearly 800 dealers and bankers of the Memphis Zone at a convention at the Hotel Peabody Monday.

Indications that Chevrolet would go well over its quota of a million and a quarter units this year, and that the new six-cylinder valve in head car was meeting with the greatest public reception ever accorded a new line, was also brought out by Mr. Klingler, and other high officials from the central offices of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

This was the message brought back to Grenada by W. P. Moss, local Chevrolet dealer, who has just returned from the Memphis convention, where he heard the Chevrolet officials outline the most comprehensive sales program ever attempted by a manufacturer of automobiles.

Native Grenadian Achieves Distinction

Randolph Leigh, Son of A. C. Leigh, Directs Oratorical Association Designed to Promote Cause of Worldwide Peace.

The Sentinel feels sure that there are many in Grenada who will take pride in the fact that a young man born and practically reared in Grenada has achieved quite a distinction for one of his years as the head and director of an oratorical association or contest designed to promote world peace and to cause men of all nations to beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks and to cease to mold guns and to build war vessels for human destruction. Reference is had to Randolph Leigh, son of A. C. Leigh, who, until about fifteen years ago, resided in Grenada but whose home now is Los Angeles, California.

Some months ago The Washington Star carried a picture of President Coolidge, John Hays Hammond, then Secretary Hoover, James R. Moore, Randolph Leigh, and Fleming Newbold, business manager of the Washington Star, showing the presenting of a handsome cup to James R. Moore. The cup was presented by Mr. Newbold.

The oratorical contest has the backing and support of many of the great leaders of the Nation among them and besides President Coolidge is Chief Justice Taft and many others.

It is to the credit of Mr. Leigh that he has a vision for his country beyond the present and that he is actively giving his talents to promote peace on earth and good will towards all men. Not only does the work in which Mr. Leigh is engaged deal with man's humanity to man, but with man's business with man. When the world at large is on good terms, then those who must toil do so with braver hearts and with a greater optimism because they realize that what they are laboring for and what they are trying to lay by for the rainy day, is not to be consumed by the maw of the war demon.

Men of means and those who carry on the great and minor business enterprises of the country will feel an ease of mind which will be good for the business stability of the world and will serve both what is called capital and labor, when nations can lie down at night and feel that the war demon is not knocking at the gate of any great nation.

Some may be inclined to say that Mr. Leigh's plans are but dreams, yet if one believes in the propagation of the Christian religion and that some day every knee shall bow before Jesus and that every tongue shall confess his name, then it is realized that any effort made to bring men into happier and better relations or to make nations trust each other more is but a work in the greatest affair that can concern men.

Mr. Leigh has had the good fortune to have a father who gave his best thought to his children, one who never let business or outside demands cause him to fail to give the training of his children the best in him. He is one of those fathers who has been blessed with a sufficiency of this world's goods so that he might have an ease of mind and not be compelled to struggle day by day for a competence. He has sought to cultivate the proper ambitions in his children and to inspire in them ideals that endure beyond the changing scenes of the day. It is therefore no doubt a source of more than great satisfaction that this son is engaged in a world-wide work and that he has so ably and intelligently conducted his work as to draw to his side and his aid some of the greatest and most useful men of the country.

The metropolitan press, and especially the newspapers of Washington City, often make mention of the work Randolph Leigh is doing. The speeches prepared cannot fail to make such an impression on the minds of those who deliver them as will make them devotees of world-wide peace.

The Sentinel congratulates Randolph Leigh and hopes that his fondest hopes may be realized in what he is doing.

MCLEOD'S SUNDAY LECTURE TO APPEAR IN NEXT ISSUE

Circumstances over which he had no control prevented Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, from giving The Sentinel for publication in this paper a copy of his lecture on the Holy Lands delivered at his church last Sunday evening. Therefore, The Sentinel this week is having to go to press without this lecture.

This paper knows that its readers will be greatly disappointed and it hopes that they will look forward with more than usual interest to the next issue when two lectures will be published, the one omitted this week and the one to be delivered by the minister next Sunday evening.

MAKES DRASTIC PRICE CUTS IN ODDS, ENDS FURNITURE

When an article that originally sold for $25.00 is offered at $2.50, one must concede without argument that it must be a real sure enough bargain. Such a drastic price reduction is one of the many attractive quotations made in an advertisement of Revell Furniture Co. which appears on page 5 of this week's Sentinel.

In straightening and arranging its warehouse, Revell Furniture Co. found many odds and ends of furniture which it wishes to clear out so as to make room for furniture that is arriving every day for spring selling. In order to make these items appeal to the public, costs has been given little consideration in setting the sale price on the different articles.

It is indeed rare when any home is completely furnished. There is always a little thing here or a little piece of furniture there that will add to the coziness and the attractiveness of any home. Such things as are needed by every householder are quoted in Revell's ad and The Sentinel feels sure that anyone may find listed there just the very article he or she has been wanting but which has not been bought on account of its cost. With the great reduction in price made at this time, no pocketbook will have to be strained to make that purchase.

Don't fail to read Revell's offerings thoroughly. It pays to act quickly for on many of the items just a limited quantity is on hand and the policy of "first come, first served" means that it pays to be on time.

HERE TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PYTHIAN LODGE

Hon. Fred McDonald, of Okolona, and Rev. E. C. Driskell, pastor of the Methodist church at Calhoun City, are in Grenada conferring with members of the Knights of Pythias Lodge relative to new work, and for the purpose of trying to put new life and more activity into the Grenada Lodge. Grenada, some years ago, had one of the brightest and largest Pythian lodges in Mississippi. Maj. B. F. Thomas, was for years the grand treasurer of the state and The Sentinel believes at one time that the late Judge Wm. C. McLean was also a state officer of the grand lodge. There is hardly any one in Grenada now who takes a greater interest in the Knights of Pythias Lodge than Dr. W. F. Ferguson, and he is rendering every possible aid to the visiting Pythians. Dr. Ferguson can be relied on to make every visitor feel at home in Grenada.

Mr. McDonald is a citizen of Okolona where he served for seventeen years as postmaster, having obtained his first appointment under Woodrow Wilson. He was, before being named postmaster, a member of the lower house of the Mississippi legislature. He is a man of marked individuality and one of splendid ability. His associate, the Rev. Mr. Driskell, bears the credentials of one of the great Christian churches which should of itself be a passport to the esteem and good will of any community.

"GENERAL ELECTRIC" ON THE AIR EVERY SATURDAY

The General Electric Company is giving a new series of fine radio programs on a coast-to-coast network on 42 National Broadcast Stations every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock central time. The first program appeared Saturday night with Walter Damrosch and his great orchestra.

This new program of General Electric Company's promises good entertainment for the radio listeners.

Rev. Patton of Hull, Eng., declares that "crimes and misdemeanors are incited and accelerated by the dress that women wear." It appears that the reverend gentleman's indignation comes rather late. We doubt that modern women's dress or lack of it excites anyone very much any more.

TELLS OF HAPPENINGS AT NATION'S CAPITAL

Washington Correspondent Gives Brief of Doings at Capital. Usual Stirring About Among Certain Politicians Before Inauguration of New President. President-Elect Keeping Own Counsel. Embarrassment Said to Have Come to Johnson and Roosevelt because of Retaining Predecessor's Cabinet Officers. Many Saying Hoover Will Kick Certain Politicians Out as Roosevelt Did.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12:

(Special to Grenada Sentinel)—Things are unusually lively at Washington today, that is with the politicians. But it is always this way just before a new president goes in. Congress is working under a double header. Thus far there has been no adjustment of the $54,000,000 appropriation added by the senate to the deficiency appropriation bill for the enforcement of prohibition. The lower house rejected the amendment and the matter is now in conference. The probabilities are that it will be stricken out and that only about $14,000,000 will be appropriated. It was the Democrats who added this to the bill. They played the game pretty well. The Republicans got the credit last fall of being in favor of prohibition and now the Democrats claim the credit of putting the sincerity of the Republicans to the test. The Democrats argue that if the law is to remain—and a majority of the Democrats are in favor of its remaining—then it should be enforced and that what is regarded as adequate money should be voted to make enforcement possible. Secretary Mellon opposes the fifty four million dollar appropriation and has written two messages to members of congress giving his reasons for opposition. Mainly, he says, that if the money is appropriated the enforcement organization is not so adjusted that it could be wisely used, and that therefore the amount would be largely wasted. The action of Mr. Mellon has placed Bishop Cannon and others prominent in prohibition enforcement astride his neck. Unquestionably the law cannot be enforced with the limited men now on the job. The force needs to be thrice what it is now. I see that a New York state judge holds that prohibition officers have a right to shoot one carrying whiskey if he does not stop when ordered to do so by an officer. This is a bad precedent. The trouble is that there are too many careless minded men who are police officers. There are hundreds of instances throughout the country where officers have ruthlessly shot into cars and killed innocent men because they did not stop when an officer hollers "stop". Men have been wounded by officers who are known to be upright, lawabiding men who swore that they never had any idea that an officer meant for them to stop or when maybe they did not hear the command. It has been suggested that too many men feel their oats when they have a little commission and maybe are wearing a little star. "Biggity" officers will discredit whatever they undertake to do. The truth is most people think that the "biggity man" is misfit anywhere and they are no far wrong about it.

A bill has been introduced by Senator Randall of Louisiana to provide an adequate appropriation for medical research, and there are thousands throughout the land who think that the bill, or some measure looking to that end, should pass. The appropriations to fight disease among live stock and plant life is about fifteen times what they are to fight disease which are carrying away hundreds of thousands of citizens every year. The scourge of influenza this year has awakened the public mind it seems to the necessity of an advance all along the lines of encouraging medical research. There ought to be, there will be some remedy found by the medical world to ward off the flu. No profession has made the advancement during the last fifty years as way equal to the medical profession. It is authoritative statement that the prevalence of cancer greatly on the increase, and the last year, we believe it is, 103,000 people died in the United States of this dreaded disease.

Mr. Hoover's cabinet has been formed many times, for him, it seems to be keeping his own counsel. The older political heads say that an incoming president always makes a mistake when he carries over members of the cabinet of his predecessor, and notable instance of such mistakes are cited in a drew Johnson and Theodore Roosevelt. There are many who make bold to say that Hoover going to do some of the things Roosevelt did; that is that he is going to kick overboard some politicians and that he means to do the country a really Ball Mool administration. Undoubtedly it president-elect enjoys the con-

CANNOT MAKE THE GRADE.

The man who buys farm lands now, at present prices, will reap a handsome profit when the possibilities of this immediate section become generally known.—West Point Times-Leader.

We are sure Editor Harris is sincere in his judgment, but we must conclude that he has not been back in Mississippi long enough to familiarize himself with true conditions. It is true Mississippi lands are perhaps the lowest in price of any of the States, and we know that it is not good policy to expose our local conditions, ordinarily. But when conditions get to where ours are, we believe frank statements will hasten a betterment of them. As a matter of fact all the newspapers in Mississippi cannot make our people believe Mississippi lands are a good investment at this time, nor will they be until we get a change in our system of taxation. As long as we have a bunch of shortsighted lawmakers who believe it is in the power of the poorest State in the Union to build State educational institutions the equal of the richer states, and a good sized minority of lawmakers who insist upon the State endeavoring to build hard surface roads to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars to be paid for out of ad valorem taxes on these lands, it will be difficult to make our people believe Mississippi lands are good investments. As an evidence that what we say is true, show us a real financier who has the cash to buy lands, who is doing so. When those in authority and those who vote bonds, get off their financial drunk, and get back to mother earth, conditions may get to where our lands will be an investment, but not until then. When lands are the only security any country has for its indebtedness, as is the case, and taxation is such as to make owning these lands a burden, when our people prefer to lease rather than to own them, any man out of the asylum, and many in it, ought to know where we are headed. We see no reason for our press to kid the people further in these matters, but speak the truth about them, and hope for a speedy reform. In other words, if we may be pardoned, quit condoning the idiocy of our present day leaders, and turn the water on where it belongs.—Winston County Journal.

We agree largely with what our esteemed friend, Hight, of the Winston County Journal, says. He only partially touches the spot when he states that taxation alone is the barrier to Mississippi's progress. There are many other things that are handicapping our development. But we quite agree with him in stating that it is time to quit hoodwinking ourselves as well as others. If one one-hundredth part of what the press has stated about Mississippi's progress were even halfway true, the people of the state would be 100 per cent better off financially than they are. We have fooled ourselves. We have played long enough the blind optimist, who has been compared to the blind man in a dark room hunting a black hat that he knew was not there. Statistics, we believe, show that 85 per cent of the farms of the country are under mortgage; we feel confident that Mississippi will rank towards the top in mortgages, indeed we suspect that her mortgage ratio will run higher than 85 per cent. The whole country is on a spending spree; when it will quit, the Maker of the Universe only knows.

In passing we will say that the average town in the state is taxed until it is burdensome, and even higher than the farmers. We noted the other day in the press a letter from a citizen of Eupora who stated that his tax rate was 125 mills, or 12½ per cent. Think of it.

GROW WITH GRENADA

The "boom" town is ever alluring to large numbers, in that it seemingly offers the opportunity to grow up with the place. To get in on the ground floor, so to speak, at first blush, prompts great numbers to rush to the new place, where they will find many others who have been attracted in the same manner.

They seek their new home with the avowed purpose of growing up with the town and that determination serves as an impetus for extra effort. If perchance the ambitions of its founders are realized, those with that determination to grow with the place will succeed, provided the determination is sincere and a proportionate amount of energy is displayed in their efforts.

Have you grown with Grenada? Have you kept pace with its advancement and development? There has been no boom here, as that term is usually applied to the growth of the so-called mushroom cities that spring to life over night, only to fade away almost as quickly. There has been however, a healthy, steady, wonderful growth and advancement here for the past ten years. True there has been no stream of prospectors added to the normal growth to cause the population to increase as rapidly as has been the case in many other cities of this size.

The growth in wealth and health has been phenomenal. The advancement in civic improvements, its streets, churches, schools, residences, is such that there is just cause for exceeding pride.

There have been and are now as great opportunities for success here as there are in those new or proposed boom towns. The opportunity to grow up with the place, to get in on the ground floor holds as good in Grenada as in the other places. If your desire to grow up with the city is real, there will be the accomplishment. If your desire to grow up with Grenada has been sincere and the effort expended sufficient, you have grown up with it.

Grenada is going to continue to grow and develop. You may if you choose grow with it. When you do so, yours and the city's growth will be mutual. In just the proportion in which your aid is given in the advancement and development, will the return be.

There has been nobody in Grenada suggested for a place in Hoover's cabinet. Many are being called, it seems, but few will be chosen.

THE FISHERMAN WHO WAS AFRAID.

Once upon a time, it has been said, a man sat on the bank of a beautiful stream with a good hook and line and a gourd full of bait and watched the fish go by, but when asked why he did not try his luck, he answered, "I'm afraid I'll lose my bait".

This bank fisherman who did not fish typifies the life of many communities and we wonder sometimes if Grenada is not just a bit like this complacent fisherman (?).

We are beautifully located. Grenada is a bait that any one might justly envy. The fish are going by and some are almost biting at our hook despite the fact that we refuse to place it in the water. Yes, we are keeping our bait gourd, but what profit is there in a bait gourd if it is not used?

Industrial enterprises are knocking at the door of the Southland. Several of them during the past fifteen months have been tapping on Grenada's door but, somehow or other, we have failed to open our door wide enough for them to come in. One of Grenada's best citizens was heard to say some time ago that there were men in Grenada who had securities enough lying in the vaults of banks to make sure of several industrial enterprises that would have weekly payrolls of thousands of dollars, and that these men of capital would earn more for themselves, and certainly render the community a better service and make possible greater opportunities for their children and others of the community, if they would but invest in Grenada industrial enterprises.

Once a fisherman sat on the bank to fish but would not wet his hook lest he lose his bait. The fish were passing up and down the stream. The water was clear as crystal and more than beautiful to behold. What would passersby say of such a fisherman, what would they have a right to think of such a fisherman?

JOHN D. COLLECTS FOR HIS DONATIONS.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has given hundreds of millions in the last twenty-five years to colleges and philanthropies. Let it be hoped that his donations or gifts have been made with the purest motives, but to the man up a tree, these gifts give color to the thought that he is trying to atone for the methods by which he made his money. Undoubtedly many have been run over roughshod in a financial way by John D.

In the controversy which has arisen between the Rockefeller interests and Col. Stewart, head of the Indiana Standard Oil Co., Stewart appeals to the stockholders to retain him and among other things cites that the Indiana Standard Oil Co. was worth only $170,000,000 when he took charge in 1918 and, that now, ten years afterward, it is worth $900,000,000 after having declared cash dividends of $200,000,000. In brief, after having paid dividends in ten years of about 120 per cent of the original stock, the books show the concern worth more than five hundred per cent of what it was in 1918. This answers the question of why gasoline is so high. Yes, John D. wants to kick Stewart out because of conduct in the government oil suits which became public.

The general public feels about the controversy between the two men like the man whose red-headed wife got into a fight with a bear, they do not give a continental who whips.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF LINCOLN'S BIRTH.

The birthday of Abraham Lincoln was fittingly celebrated throughout the country. Lincoln belongs to the whole nation. While Johnson labored to carry out his policies, the fact that he was a southern man and a Democrat caused the radicals of the Republican party to distrust him. Lincoln's death was most unfortunate for the South, for the whole land. He was great in his simplicity. He was honest. He was sincere. His thoughts were for the humble and the poor; he thought the rich and the powerful were able to take care of themselves. The fact that he was so intensely human and so intensely imbued with the spirit to better his country and to make conditions better for the humble in life, is one of the main reasons why his memory is lovingly cherished. He was full of good cheer and oftentimes sent the accuser and the conveyor of pessimistic news out of his office with a joke or a humorous answer to what had been said. Lincoln wanted to be fair to the South. His inaugural address in 1861, viewed in the light of the present, was all that the South could want. Had there not been such characters as Thaddeus Stevens and Charles Sumner in Republican councils, and some southern extremists as well, there would have been no Civil War during Lincoln's administration, and maybe never.

Lincoln's life and career should be an incentive to every struggling youth of the land.

ASKING ELEVEN TIMES ASSESSED VALUE FOR LANDS.

There's a smart fellow who writes mighty good stuff in Editor Gaston's Courier down at Fairhope, Ala., under the heading "Sharps and Flats." Last week he referred to the land owners down along the southern Mississippi river flood district who are trying to gouge the federal government in the flood prevention work. You see the government needs a lot of land for the spillways and for the diversion of the flood waters. His comment made me call up the office of the Chief of Engineers of the Army this morning to make inquiry. What do you suppose the officer told me? For those overflow lands in the district north of New Orleans some 75 or 100 miles, some of them swamp lands and all entirely outside of any development area, those owners were trying to hold the government up for Eleven Times Their Assessed Value! They were asking on an average of $243 an acre for them, when the highest price at which any of them have changed hands lately is from $60 to $75.—Woodville Republican.

EXPENDITURES IN FOREIGN TRAVEL.

Reliable statistics show that perhaps $900,000,000 was spent by citizens of this country in touring Europe last year. The expenditures by tourists in 1927 was $770,000,000. The year 1919 showed only about $50,000,000 for American travel in Europe but since then the figures have climbed. The number of tourists going abroad in 1913 was reported at only 360,000. The Times-Picayune observes in this connection, supposing that the $900,000,000 reported as being spent last year, would still be $658,000,000 short of the amount of American investments in new foreign securities in 1927, and that it would be $220,000,000 more than the excess of this country's exports over imports.

The more money "big business" invests abroad the greater danger of a foreign war. "Big business" is soulless and had rather see blood flow than its money go.

"DO SOMETHING" FOR THOSE ACROSS THE WATERS.

There are some in the United States who have been jumping up and down about "what should be done for those in Europe", and particularly has this been the case since the World War. Congress has even appropriated money for purposes in Europe that would have provoked much constitutional discussion had there been a measure proposed to do the same thing for any contingent of the people of this country.

A reliable statistician figures the combined wealth of Europe, exclusive of Russia, at four hundred sixty-five billion dollars and its total indebtedness at twenty-three billion dollars; per capita wealth at $1266 and per capita debt at $61.00. The same authority places the wealth of the United States at three hundred forty-nine billion dollars and the total debt at eighteen billion dollars; per capita wealth at $2941. and per capita debt at $155. Might ponder these figures when the "goose stuffer" comes along with his tale of woe for Europe.

SENSE AND SPEED

It has been rather well established that laws which arbitrarily fix speed limits for automobiles are little protection against accidents. The speed at which one may safely drive depends upon the road and traffic conditions involved.

A high executive of one of the leading automobile manufacturing companies, who has made a close study of speed in its relation to accidents, declares that 50 or even 60 miles an hour over good open roads in the country may be safer than 15 miles an hour in cutting corners in town.

The safe driver is not necessarily the slow driver, but one who uses common sense whether driving fast or slow. Careless driving while turning corners, passing pedestrians or other cars, crossing railroad tracks and maneuvering in congested traffic is the greatest menace to life and limb.

Sense, not speed, is the important factor in determining whether a driver is safe or unsafe.

WHY NOT MODERN TELEPHONES IN GRENADA?

A good proposition for the people of Grenada to get behind is that of changing Grenada's telephone system from the old and out of date "bell ringing" telephone we are now using to the flashlight or common battery system. The telephone company will be glad to make the change provided its subscribers here agree to pay slightly higher rates for their phone service.

Oxford is actively behind a similar proposition now. The rates in Oxford are the same as they are in Grenada, $4.00 for business phones and $2.35 for residence connections. We are told that the charges will be, if the new system is installed, $4.50 and $2.70, respectively.

Grenada is large enough now for the new system. Let's get behind the matter and have the old phones relegated to the discard.

THE INFLUENCE OF WORDS

Every word that man utters, no matter how light or seemingly insignificant the word may be, has an influence upon himself and upon others. Whether the influence be good or bad depends upon the character of the word. Man instinctively knows the kind of effect that words will have upon his affairs. The matter of uttering only the right words then becomes one of discrimination and of watchfulness.

It is easy for negative words to enter the mind; they come by suggestion from without, or as the result of error of thought within. High standards of thought and constant vigilance must be called upon to keep out those thoughts that are not conducive to our highest good.

WHAT A CIGARETTE CAN DO.

Have just been reading the essay on "Mathematics" which the Cigarette wrote: "I am not much of a mathematician, but I can add to a boy's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy. I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers, I can take interest from his work, and I can discount his chances of success."—Ex.

Badly Run-Down

"Six years ago, I was very much run-down," says Mrs. Olympia Knight of Lovett, Ga. "I did not sleep well, and was weak and restless. I dragged around the house with not enough strength to do my daily tasks. I worried a lot, and this disturbed state of mind reacted on my health."

"I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while."

"It was astonishing how much I picked up. I slept better, my appetite improved, and that awful dragging-down feeling left me. I was so much better that I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well." Cardui has been used by women for over 50 years. For sale by all druggists.

There has been some excuse in the past for not testing the brakes on automobiles. The only satisfactory test was a road test at different speeds and this required considerable time. As a result, most folks did nothing about having the brakes adjusted and equalized until they learned in an emergency that their braking was inefficient. Too often this has been too late. Increasing automobile traffic, and the higher speed at which cars now travel has proved how correct is that old copy book saying—'Necessity is the mother of invention'.

A machine has been perfected that gives an exact and perfect report on each brake on the car under actual road conditions. Mr. S. M. Brown of the Superior Service Station, has recently installed this piece of service equipment—the Jumbo Giant Brake Tester. He says that from no other branch of automobile servicing does the customer derive so much satisfaction. When the car is driven off the 'Jumbo', the driver knows that when an emergency arrives the brakes will answer 100 per cent. The careful motorist will make the testing of brakes a regular habit every 1000 or 1500 miles. The test only takes two minutes time and is free. Anyone who has experienced the sinking feeling that sweeps over the occupants of a car when the knowledge comes to them that the brakes aren't holding and the car is out of control, will be everjoyed at the opportunity to avoid a repetition of that experience.

A Patriotic Service

The month of February above all other months is noted for being the birth month of two of the most distinguished men in history—George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. There is but little difference in the results achieved by these great men viewing it from a national viewpoint. The salvation of a republic was the idea that motivated their interest and activities. We delight to think of both of them as a benediction to the nation. The birthday of Mr. Lincoln is reverently regarded as sacred to our group because of his great soul that pulsated in behalf of the freedom of four and one-half millions of slaves who by no choice of their own, were in bondage in this country. Viewing the conditions as they existed he declared that if he ever got a chance he would deal slavery a death blow. God gave him a chance and what he did was enough. The white people who at the time owned these slaves had committed no crime and purchased and owned them as a means to an end, but when it was ended, regarded it as right and proper. Very few white people, today, offer no defense for the conditions that prevailed in the 50s and 60s. We are all glad of the changes brought about under the administration of Mr. Lincoln. As a group we should ever reverence and celebrate the birth and activities of this, the great emancipator. At Vincent M. E. Church a special Lincoln day program was presented with Rev. G. M. Chisholm as master of ceremonies. Appropriate music was furnished by the choir. Dr. W. H. Strickland, Prof. A. M. Rogers, and Mrs. Carrie Golden made addresses. A cash offering was contributed and sent to our Rust College at Holly Springs, Miss.

A Good Man Gone

Mr. E. M. Campbell a resident of this city, engaged in health insurance, was stricken a few days ago and continued to grow worse. He sought relief by going to the Miller Sanitarium of Yazoo City, Miss. last Sunday morning and on Monday at 9 p. m. he was called from labor to reward. Mr. Campbell had been in our community more than two years, and had conducted himself in a way to make friends wherever he happened to be. He was a loyal member of the M. E. Church and his many friends will mourn their loss. Mr. Campbell was recently married to Miss Mattie Dunaway and from all appearance, they were a God ordained couple. Her many friends share in her bereavement.

The Progressive Civic Club of our group, an organization that is functioning for the advancement of the race socially, morally and industrially, is one of the factors which we contemplate will serve as a lever to lift us to a higher plane of living. Many of our people fail to see or recognize the possibilities of the good that can accrue to our race. To be plain we think every race loving negro should delight to enter into and help carry on the good work. Preparations are maturing for an entertainment by the Progressive Civic Club of the public. The entertainment will be of an unusual kind in which every feature will prove a hit. The general public may look forward to the announcement of the date which will be given later.

Dr. J. A. Miller of Jackson, Miss., comes to our city as a reputable dentist. His advent to our city supplies a long felt need to the people of our group. The opportunity to have dentistry work done, to some extent, has been a handicap. We are happy in the thought that we can now have attention paid to our teeth without having to go out of town to get it done. Mr. Miller comes recommended as a practical dentist. His office is on Green Street in the upstairs of the Pass building.

Mrs. Ruth Robinson, of Chicago, Ill., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Georgia Seals, on South Street. Mrs. Oneda Ross, of Memphis, is also visiting her mother, Mrs. G. A. Seales.

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I use it for mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home."

"When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is about the only medicine I have to take. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. I hardly see how I could keep house without Black-Draught. It has become a standby with us, in keeping the children and ourselves well."—Mrs. Luther Brassfield, Claremore, Okla.

Birthday Dinner for Husband.

Mrs. J. F. McRee was the lovely hostess on last Friday evening, Feb. 8th, at a delightful six o'clock dinner at her pretty home in Holcomb, honoring the birthday of her husband.

At the beautifully appointed table the Valentine idea was carried out in the decorations. At the conclusion of the final course of the elegant meal, each guest was handed an envelope which, upon opening, was found to contain a tiny red heart upon which was written the "hidden fault" of one of his friends. Their reading caused much entertainment.

After an enjoyable hour of conversation, the guests expressed themselves as having had a most enjoyable evening and wished for Mr. McRee many more such happy birthday anniversaries.

Those present were Messrs. C. O. Ayer, J. M. Fancher, C. V. Gibson, W. W. Rowell, Joe H. Harris, R. V. Nason, E. D. Holcomb, J. L. Elliott and Groce Carter, and Dr. A. S. Hill and Rev. W. J. Woods.

The Human Side of Big Business

Trell W. Yocum, head of Oil Heating Institute and the American Oil Burner Association, says there is no recipe for success, except to understand human nature

By EDGAR MELS

In his early thirties, Trell W. Yocum, head of the Oil Heating Institute and the American Oil Burner Association has had a life crowded with activity and success. A newspaperman of standing, (at one time managing editor of Collier's Weekly); in the office of Herbert Hoover, then Food Administrator; climbing steadily upward on the ladder of hard work, he has attained success at a time in life when other men have just begun to climb.

Mr. Yocum as head of these two organizations represents a billion dollars in invested capital, employing nearly 500,000 workers.

"MEMBERS of the Oil Heating Institute and the American Oil Burner Association believe, as do all modern employers, that high pay for labor means satisfied workers and consequently better work done. You cannot get work out of a man who worries about his income, or is restless because he thinks he should get more pay. Our employers—and they have on their pay roll more than 500,000—believe in profit-sharing for the worker, who in the last analysis is at least partly responsible for any success a business may attain. The day when the employer paid labor as little as labor would accept under protest; when the employer thought only of profit—that day has gone, I believe, forever."

Mr. Yocum, as head of the Oil Heating Institute, and the American Oil Burner Association represents the best-known manufacturers of oil burners and accessories in the country, as well as affiliated trades, such as twenty-two major oil companies in the United States. The Institute does not sell anything except knowledge. It issues booklets and statements from time to time, explaining the uses of oil heating in homes and schools. The Institute is really a clearing house for the industry, which though young, comprises a capitalization of a billion dollars, at a conservative estimate.

Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., and Mr. A. M. Carothers spent Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning in Memphis on business connected with the new Presbyterian annex fast nearing completion here.

The Sentinel regrets to note that Mr. T. F. Weir is confined to his bed at his home east of Grenada with an illness involving his heart and kidneys, a trouble that has been giving him some concern for a year or more. He has a host of friends over the county who join in the hope that he will soon be able to be out and about again.

Mr. Charles Kenwright has just returned from Detroit, Mich., where he spent three weeks attending a refrigerator school conducted by the Copeland Electric Refrigerator Co. Mr. Kenwright is connected with 444 Tire & Battery Co., which sells this refrigerator in this territory.

Mrs. Weet Barksdale left Thursday for Jonestown to spend some time visiting her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Barksdale.

Mr. H. L. Honeycutt returned Wednesday morning from Gulfport where he spent the first of the week attending the convention of Mississippi bottlers. His son, Mr. Roy Honeycutt, who is manager of the Coca-Cola plant at Brookhaven, accompanied him to the coast.

Messdames A. M. Carothers, R. L. McLeod, Jr., Raphael Semmes, J. K. Avant and J. P. Pressgrove spent Tuesday in Greenwood.

Trell W. Yocum

"I suppose, in a general sense, I have made some small degree of success," said Mr. Yocum. "But there is no one reason to which I can attribute anything I may have accomplished in this direction. There have been many platitudes written and spoken on how to attain success. Frankly, I do not believe that any one knows just what brings success. There is hard work, popularly alleged to be the basis of all success. But many men work hard and yet fail, so you see, the 'hard work' axiom is not always applicable. Perhaps chance has something to do with success. But if there be one definite factor, I think it is a knowledge of your fellow man. Understand him and you have won a portion of the battle we call life."

"And the college man? Is a college education an advantage in the battle?"

"Yes, in that it trains the mind and provides a background. Of course, college is absolutely needed for specialists, such as engineers. But for general work, I think a high school education, backed by common sense and a tolerable love of work, will accomplish much."

Mr. Yocum has proved by example much of what is printed above. He has been unusually active for his years; he has accomplished much. The more fact that he heads two organizations of national scope, is proof of his success.

BIG CREEK ROUTE 2 ITEMS

We are glad to know that the sun is once more shining. However it seemed as if it was mildewed for a while.

The outside boys and girls of Coles Creek community gave the boys and girls of Coles Creek school an interesting game of basketball Friday afternoon. The outside boys defeated the school boys by a great majority. The girls' score was ten to seven in favor of Coles Creek school girls.

The rain disappointed many boys and girls Friday night who were planning to go to the dance at the home of Mrs. R. A. Gray.

Miss Grace Merritt, of Coles Creek community, visited her friend, Miss Vivian Goodson, near Calhoun City, from Wednesday night until Sunday.

THE RACE AND RACIAL ILL WILL

The presidential campaign in the South has degenerated into a series of appeals to prejudice, with workers in both parties guilty of an unbelievable amount of loose thinking and damaging talk. The evil that these men and women are doing will remain to plague us, long after Smith and Hoover have been gathered to their fathers.

Withering fires of race hatred have been fanned afresh. Democratic speakers are going about recounting the fearful orgies of reconstruction days in an effort to maintain party regularity through appeals to fear. Some of these ill-advised rabble-rousers picture every Republican in Mississippi as no better than the carpet-baggers of other days.

On the other hand, anti-Smithites who have bolted the historic party of their fathers and made common cause with our traditional Republican opponents, are disseminating political literature of a most inflammable character in an effort to prove that Tammany deals with negroes in Harlem on terms of social and political equality. Thus it is that native-born Mississippians who are for Smith and against him are both guilty of these unworthy appeals to race prejudice.

The plain fact is that in the eastern and middle western states the negro voters hold the balance of power and both parties indulge in the friendliest kind of political overtures with an eye to capturing this bloc of votes. Negroes run for office on both the Democratic and the Republican platforms and practical politicians in both parties go after the colored votes with might and main. It is just as impossible for the Democrats to ignore the fact that a negro is running for Congress on the Democratic ticket in Missouri as it is that Herbert Hoover's campaign organization sent one of Daugherty's Ohio gang through the South to buy up negro delegates to the Republican convention at Kansas City.

It is equally true that in Mississippi, the bulk of our white citizenship does not relish the idea of negro participation in our elections. What is more to the point is that the great rank and file of Mississippi negroes are making no effort to take part in things political. Yet upon their heads there is being heaped a veritable torrent of unwarranted political abuse, without any thought of the fact that they are human beings with feelings and with souls.

Certainly the negroes are not responsible for the condition in which they now find themselves. Our ancestors came to Mississippi of their own free will and accord. The ancestors of the present generation of Mississippi negroes were brought here as helpless slaves. We are here today because we desire to live and die in Mississippi. The vast majority of Mississippi negroes have little control over the future course of their lives. Most of them must of necessity remain here, for they are victims of stern economic forces with which they are powerless to cope. Let any appreciable number of Mississippi negroes begin an exodus and white employers of labor on farm and in factory, make haste to urge them to remain.

Even during the Civil War period, the negroes were little more than pawns in that great conflict. Freedom came to them purely as a war-time measure. Political power was placed in their hands, not because they particularly desired it or were prepared for it, but because unscrupulous white men desired to capitalize their ignorance and play upon their prejudices for their own personal aggrandizement.

For more than a quarter of a century the bulk of our negro citizens have shunned politics. Today the negroes one sees at work in field or factory are making little or no effort to participate in our elections. Now is the time to let the race question alone. Mark this well. If the negro becomes active in politics in Mississippi during the life of the present generation, it will be because white men and white women, through misuse of political power or heartless abuse of the negro race, bring it about. Efforts of unscrupulous Republican politicians to make catpaws of negro voters deserve stern condemnation. Agitation of old reconstruction evils for which the negroes of this generation are in no sense responsible is equally unjustified on the part of Democratic speakers who stir up the demon of race prejudice in order to bully voters into party regularity.

A sense of justice and of fair play demands that we say this word in behalf of the fifty per cent. of our population who are virtually without a voice and who are the victims of cruel circumstance. White supremacy is a mockery if we who claim racial superiority use power and position to wantonly abuse and unjustly injure those who sorely need our friendship and our help.—Editorial in Hattiesburg American.

The above appeared during the presidential campaign and is being reproduced at this time that it may be given sober thought now that the ardor and fire of the campaign have about subsided and will have no influence on one's serious thinking.

celebrates 5th Birthday.

Little Miss Cherry Sisk was the attractive honoree at a beautifully planned Valentine party last Friday afternoon, when her mother, Mrs. Paul Sisk, entertained for her fifth birthday.

Red hearts in profusion were used as decorations throughout the house and Valentine contests, and prizes further carried out this same idea.

After the many attractive gifts were opened and admired, several enjoyable games dear to children's hearts were played, after which a contest was held in which each child tried pinning a tiny heart nearest the center of a larger heart. Miss May Jane Crabtree was the lucky little girl and Master John Keeton, the lucky boy, each receiving a lovely Valentine as prize.

The children were then ushered into the dining room where the birthday cake with five red candles burning brightly on it, served as a centerpiece for the dining table. Around the cake were red hearts, with the guests' name on them, and tied to each was a beautiful Valentine. Little red baskets filled with chocolate kisses and gum were at each child's place. Ice cream in the shape of red hearts and a slice of the birthday cake were enjoyed by all present. In cutting the cake, John Rundle cut the ring, Benton Keeton, the thimble and Cherry Sisk, the marble.

The following young folks enjoyed Mrs. Sisk's hospitality: Betty Rule, Elizabeth Dogan, Mary Jane Newsom, Nancy Richards, Mary Jane Crabtree, Nancy Newsom, Sara Jacqueline Stevens, Charline McLean, Janie Provine, James Hardy Holder, Duval Proudft, John Keeton, Jr., Chester Irby, Benton Keeton, John Rundle and Jimmy Falkner, of Oxford, cousin of the honoree.

It was with much reluctance that the little folks bade their hostess good bye, but with many, many good wishes for Cherry, the happy party came to an end.

Compliments Sister.

Mrs. Byron Dudley was the charming hostess last Thursday afternoon at a most enjoyable Valentine bridge party given in honor of her sister, Miss Tressie Nelson, who was leaving in a few days for college.

Mrs. Dudley carried out the Valentine motif in her decorations, prizes and refreshments. Valentines were used as place cards with heart-shaped tallies. Candies and salted nuts in heart-shaped containers were enjoyed during the games. Crepe paper table covers, decorated with cupid and hearts, were used to further carry out the Valentine idea.

Mrs. Dudley Crawford received high score prize, a book entitled "Love Itself", and Mrs. Stokes Kimbrough cut the consolation, a heart-shaped box of candy tied with red ribbons.

A most tempting plate lunch with heart-shaped molded salad, with a golden arrow crosses it, heart-shaped sandwiches, iced tea and olives and heart-shaped individual cakes, with a tiny Valentine on them were served to the following guests: Misses Tressie Nelson, Rebecca Stokes, Cora Leigh Wilson and Katherine Lufkin and Mesdames Dudley Crawford, Spivey Kent, John Long, Stokes, Kimbrough, Lewis Thrash, Jim Horn, George Garner and Eugene Proudft and Mrs. Porch.

Mrs. Dudley was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. Horace Spain.

Parish Guild Meets

The Parish Guild of All Saints Episcopal Church met at the home of Mrs. Roy Doak Monday afternoon, Feb. 11th.

The meeting was called to order by the president and was opened with a short prayer led by Mrs. Sam Cain.

The regular lesson and business was dispensed with so that the guild might enjoy a full report of the council of church women held last week in Jackson. Mrs. Ben Brown, one of the delegates, gave a most interesting account of the council.

Miss Mary Strahan, of Grenada, another delegate from All Saints' Parish Guild, made to the Jackson council the report of the church periodical society and told of the work of this society in forwarding magazines to ministers, and others who might not otherwise have access to current literature. She suggested ways in which each guild in each parish could help in this work.

Mrs. Wolfe, also of Grenada, read the memorial so beautifully and impressively that she received the praise and the gratitude of the entire council. The Grenada guild is very proud to claim these representatives who added greatly to the success of the council.

The council will meet next year at Clarksdale.

The next meeting of the Grenada Auxiliary will be held in the home of Mrs. W. M. Ames Monday, Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Mrs. C. P. Bradford, of Ita Bena, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. A. Clanton, Tuesday.

Bain Horton.

Miss Nellie Gray Horton, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Susie Horton, and Mr. William Bain were married Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother at Elliott. Rev. W. E. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist church of Grenada, performed the ceremony in the presence of the members of the immediate families.

The home was decorated with ferns, American Beauty roses, and carnations in baskets, tied with white tulle.

The wedding march was played by Miss Virginia Mills at the piano, accompanied by Miss Johnnie Driskell, on the violin. During the ceremony they softly played, "Hearts and Flowers".

Their only attendant was little Miss Sue Helen Rowell, niece of the bride, who served as ring bearer. She preceded the bride and groom daintily gown and bearing the wedding ring on a white satin pillow.

The bride was gown in a navy blue ensemble with a touch of red and wore a close fitting hat of tan. Her flowers were a corsage of American beauty roses, lilies of the valley and ferns.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a motor trip to points in Alabama. On their return they will be at home to their friends with the bride's mother at Elliott where Mr. Bain is in the lumber business with his father, Mr. H. C. Bain.

Mrs. Bain attended Grenada High School where she won for herself many friends by her winsome disposition and sincerity of character. She was reared in a Christian home and has had instilled in her the higher principles of life which will serve her well in carrying out her marriage vows.

The Sentinel joins their many friends in wishing for them a happy and blissful married life.

Compliments Bride-to-be.

On last Friday afternoon, Mrs. E. T. Hill, of Elliott entertained in honor of Miss Nellie Gray Horton, who on Sunday became Mrs. William Bain, with a lovely miscellaneous shower. Valentine decorations were used throughout the rooms where the game of "Hearts" was played. Red carnations in tall vases were an added touch of the Valentine color scheme. The lights were shaded with red crepe paper and hearts.

After several enjoyable series of games were played, little Sue Helen Rowell, niece of the honoree, dressed in valentine costume, entered the room with a huge heart-shaped box decorated with red paper and a large arrow, containing many lovely gifts from the 23 guests present.

A most delicious salad course was served, the sandwiches and salad in heart-shapes, with tea, crackers and pickles. Salted nuts were served in little red baskets decorated with hearts, the honoree's being decorated with a miniature bride. A bride's book was presented to her by the hostess and each guest wrote her name in it.

Mrs. Hill was assisted in entertaining by Miss Eunice Neal and her sister, Miss Johnnie Driskell, and Mrs. J. C. Prose, of Grenada.

The following ladies took part in the mission study program: Mrs. E. H. Cunningham, Mrs. J. R. Coutiss, Mrs. R. H. Herring, and Mrs. Waterman.

Salmon was elected president for the coming year and Mrs. A. J. McCaslin, vice president, their terms of office to begin in April. The mission study book on foreign missions was completed.

The intermediate, or Epworth High League, enjoyed a Valentine party in the basement of the Methodist church Friday night. Decorations and various games and contests, in keeping with Valentine, filled the evening's program. Dainty little cakes and hot chocolate were served at the close of the party. Miss Estelle Turner is in charge of this branch of the league work.

Mrs. Brown Has Circle.

Mrs. T. J. Brown was hostess to Circle No. 3 of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church Monday afternoon, with twelve members present.

Sidelights On Washington

By John E. Rankin, Member of Congress from Mississippi.

This is a critical hour for the cotton farmer, and the honest cotton merchant.

What happens in the United States Senate within the next few days will mean more to him than the ratification of the Kellogg Treaty or the passage of the cruiser bill.

Why? Because his very economic life is at stake. The action of the Senate in passing or defeating what is known as the Vinson Bill (H. R. 13646) to prevent such manipulations on the cotton exchange as have wrecked the cotton market during the last few years will determine whether we are to have a clean and an open cotton market, free from such artificial fluctuations, or whether we cotton farmers and the small cotton merchants are to continue to be the sport of a certain large and powerful ring that has manipulated the cotton market almost at will for the last ten years.

Our investigation last year revealed an intolerable condition. We fixed responsibility for that condition, and began to clean it up. The untenderable, low grade cotton that had been used to depress the market disappeared, and the exchange began to function normally. But the danger of a repetition of those manipulations still hangs over us. We know not what day these large manipulators will resume their operations and wreck the cotton market over night.

The farmers, with a crop on hand, or the cotton merchant who has purchased cotton from the farmer, may go to bed at night with a feeling of independence and security, and wake the next morning to find that the market has been artificially depressed by one of these powerful manipulators and the savings of a lifetime swept away. The very roof above his head and the farm from which he wrings a livelihood for himself and his family may be taken to pay the losses he has sustained as a result of such manipulations.

We can prevent this. Shall we do it? That depends on the Senate. The House has done its duty. We worked out a bill which we refer to as the Vinson Bill, which, if passed, will prevent such abuses on the cotton exchange in the future. The House passed it without a dissenting vote, and it is now before the Senate committee on Agriculture.

Southern Senators on that committee can pass the bill or block it. If they pass it, they will have rendered their greatest service to the cotton growers.

If they block it, they will have delivered a severe blow to the future prosperity of the entire South.

PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 6:5-13;
Luke 11:9-14, 15.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, ask whatsoever ye will, and it shall be done unto you.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Talking With God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Talking With God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Should We Pray?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian's Prayer Life.

- I. False Prayer (Matt. 6:5-7). This consists in:
 1. Praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many prayers uttered in a public sanctuary are false for there is more consideration given to what the people think than to what God thinks.
 2. In using vain repetitions (vv. 7, 8). This does not mean that we should ask but once for the thing desired, for we have examples of both Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26:39-46, II Cor. 12:7, 8), but rather it means the use of meaningless repetitions.
- II. True Prayer (Matt. 6:8). Since true prayer is a definite transaction of the soul with God, the communion of the human personality with the divine personality there should be a real desire for fellowship with God, and then a going to Him in secret. God will abundantly reward those who seek His fellowship. We should have our closets prayers when all the world and its cares and pleasures are shut out, and we are shut in with God. We should meet with God's children and pray together.
- III. The Model Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13).
 1. A right relationship (v. 9). "Our Father." Only those who have become children of God by faith in Jesus Christ can pray aright (Gal. 3:26). One must be a child of God before he can have communion with God.
 2. A right attitude (vv. 9, 10). "Hallowed be Thy name." When one realizes that he has been delivered from the power of darkness and translated into the kingdom of His dear Son (Col. 1:13), he cannot help pouring out his soul in gratitude and praise, in intensely longing for the righteous rule of Christ on earth.
 3. A right spirit (vv. 11-13).
 - (1) That of faith, which looks to God for the supply of daily bread. We are dependent upon Him for our daily food.
 - (2) That of love, which results in forgiveness of others. God will not listen to the prayers of one who has an unforgiving spirit.
 - (3) That of holiness which moves one to pray not to be led into temptation and longs to be delivered from the evil one.
- IV. The Proper Attitude of Soul in Prayer (Luke 18:9-14). This is illustrated in the prayer of the Pharisee in contrast with the prayer of the publican. Observe:
 1. The prayer of the proud Pharisee (vv. 9-12). He took a striking attitude (v. 11). He was self-righteous and trusted in himself. He congratulated himself upon his morality. He thanked God that he was not as other men. He congratulated himself for his religious merits (v. 12). He fasted twice a week and gave tithes of all he possessed. He thus informed God that he did more than what was required, implying that God was under obligation to him.
 2. The prayer of the humble publican. In striking contrast with the Pharisee, the publican was too ashamed of his sins to even lift his eyes to heaven. He beat upon his breast as a sign of soul anguish and cried out to God to be merciful to him a sinner. Christ declared that the publican went away justified, rather than the Pharisee.
 3. Confidence in Prayer (I John 5:14, 15).
 1. Its basis (v. 13). Only those who have knowledge of the reality of salvation can pray with confidence. If one has assurance he is God's child and possesses eternal life, he will come into the presence of his Father with boldness.
 2. The scope of his prayer (v. 14). "Anything according to His will." The believer has a right to bring to God in prayer anything within the scope of the divine will.
 3. The blessed issue of the believer's prayer (v. 15). "We know that we have the petition that we desired of Him." God's children coming to Him for that which is included in His will can be assured of receiving the things needed.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Winter have recently moved to Grenada from Elliott where they have many friends who will give them a most cordial welcome.

Mrs. S. A. Morrison was visiting friends in Memphis this week and taking occasion to see the great theatrical attraction.

Mrs. J. C. Longstreet, of Jackson, is visiting her sick daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cain.

Mr. Geo. W. Field attended the Masonic state lodge meeting this week at Greenville.

W. D. Salmon, of the Grenada Mercantile Co., is in St. Louis, buying spring goods.

Dr. J. W. Sharp spent the week at Troupe and other places in Texas visiting relatives.

Mrs. A. Gerard spent a few days in Memphis this week, visiting relatives and friends.

The popular Mr. J. C. Wilson was in Memphis this week.

We regret to say that Mr. E. R. Taylor, the efficient and popular local manager of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Co., left a few days since for Vicksburg to accept an important position with the same company. Mr. Taylor came here in November, 1903, from Manchester and made many friends here. He has been succeeded by Mr. Chas. C. Crome, a genial and intelligent young gentleman of Memphis.

Each obstacle conceals an opportunity. There are many adversaries, but also many open doors. She needs to dismiss her fears and step forward with the tread of a conqueror.

The church of our day needs to be saved from competition to co-operation. Protestantism has too many divisions. Denominationalism is her chief difficulty. Her greatest weakness arises from within. We compete with each other as well as with other organizations. We waste time and strength duplicating the work of civic clubs and fraternal orders. We need to co-operate rather than compete.

On the horizon there are many hopeful signs. Federation and co-operation are in the air. Even the hope of unity is not without foundation.

The church of our day must be saved from formalism to evangelism. She must move from the defensive to the offensive. She is commissioned to take the world, and no great victories have ever been won by the defensive. She has the promise that the "Gates of Hell shall not prevail," (that is, be able to resist), the onslaught of the church.

HOW TO SAVE THE CHURCH

By Rev. Forney Hutchinson (Pastor, St. Luke's M. E. Church, South, Oklahoma City, Okla.)
The church of our day is under fire. Her critics are many, and their criticisms are severe. Her friends are bewildered and her ministry is perplexed.
To enjoy full salvation, a church, like an individual, must be saved to, as well as from, something. Salvation must be positive as well as negative.
The church of our day must be saved from pessimism to optimism. Her laity is depressed and her ministry is melancholy. She needs a revival of optimism. She has problems, to be sure, but all of them are capable of solution.

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA From the Files of THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Mr. Foster Hume, of Memphis, and general superintendent of the southern territory, of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, was in Grenada Wednesday on business.

Miss Bessie Windham entertained a number of her young friends on Friday evening, Feb. 12, in a charming manner. Luscious fruits were served and many delightful games were played, among them being "clap in and clap out," "wink" and others. Everybody spent a most delightful time.

Mr. J. C. Tharp and Miss Willie Smith were united in marriage by Rev. J. W. Lee at the residence of Mrs. Chamberlain, 10 miles east of Grenada on Sunday, February 14. The contracting parties are genial, intelligent and popular with all who know them. After the ceremony they left for Torrance, where they will reside in future.

Master Frank McLean, one of our most gallant young gentlemen, commemorated his ninth birthday last Friday afternoon by entertaining a number of his young friends at a birthday dinner. The feature of the dinner was a magnificent, delicious cake—so the boys say—around which was arranged nine glowing candles, suggesting the number of years the young gentleman has sojourned upon this earth. Miss Bertha McLean had charge of the decorations and displayed the same consummate skill which characterizes all her efforts. Master Frank is the son of the Hon. W. C. McLean, of our town, and promises to be a "chip off the old block."

TRAINS ATHLETES ON PLENTY OF SWEETS

G. H. Heineman, coach and trainer of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde gymnastic teams.

G. H. HEINEMAN, Physical Director of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde, the largest and probably the oldest gymnastic club in the United States, has ideas of dieting quite the opposite of those of certain food faddists.

"Plenty of sweets" is part of Mr. Heineman's prescription for his 1,200 athletic charges, and in offering such a prescription he exposes the absurdities of starvation diets undertaken by some women in pursuit of unnatural slenderness.

Understand me," says this trainer of men and women, "I do not mean over-indulgence. Too much sweets, like too much of any other one thing, can be detrimental. I do mean, though, that a regular ration of sugar, in some form, is absolutely necessary to the proper nourishment and energy supply of the body.

"Sugar is crystallized energy. I never take a team from the Turngemeinde to any contest without a supply of lump sugar. When the last events are reached and some of my athletes are beginning to show signs of fatigue, a lump of sugar will pick them up more quickly than any other thing I know of."

Among Mr. Heineman's athletic stars is Roberta Rance, the Philadelphia girl who, in 1926, at Churchill Downs, Kentucky, took every major woman's gymnastic championship, and who, during the past summer at Cologne, Germany, acquitted herself with honor at the International Gymnastic Festival.

The sign of a truly MODERN APARTMENT

Look for the General Electric Refrigerator sign when you're renting an apartment. For this refrigerator, the latest development of General Electric Research Laboratories, is an outstanding contribution to the comfort, economy and health of the modern home.

The unique construction of the General Electric Refrigerator has actually done away with all annoying sounds. It has made it possible to enclose all the machinery—together with a permanent supply of metal protecting oil—in an hermetically sealed steel casing. This is mounted on top of the refrigerator, leaving the cabinet free for greatest food storage space.

See this "years ahead" refrigerator at our display rooms.

that the new Nash "400" is the only car of all the new cars that offers all these important features as standard equipment... at no extra cost

THE new Nash "400" not only gives you all the important 1929 refinements listed above, but gives them to you without one single cent of extra cost. All motor cars have two prices—the factory (f. o. b.) price, and the delivered price. If the delivered price includes the extras, charged for at retail prices, you'll find your car costing a lot more than you anticipate.

Some dealers (not Nash dealers) charge as much as $50 or $60 for bumpers alone. On the new Nash "400" you'll find every necessary accessory... hydraulic shock absorbers... bumpers, front and rear... even tire locks... installed at the factory... included in the factory price... at no extra cost. That means a very much lower price, delivered, fully equipped. The Nash "400" leads the world in motor car value!

dence of the whole country to a most remarkable degree and the opinion prevails generally that he is going to give the people an honest and fearless administration of public affairs.

As one looks in on the senate and the house, some sad thoughts run through his mind because of the voluntary or enforced retirement of some of the ablest members of these two bodies. Senator Reed of Missouri will go out March 4 of his own accord. There is not an abler or more fearless member of the upper body. Another member that will go into retirement is Senator Bruce of Maryland. Bruce is an able man, and it chances that both of these men are Democrats. In the lower house the Democrats lose Finis Garrett, of Tennessee. Garrett did not try for reelection to the lower house but made the race against McKeller for senator, and was badly beaten. Garrett is the present Democratic leader, and is a real statesman.

There has been but little politics played by either party during the present short session of congress. There has been manifest a spirit of patriotism and work-together that speaks well for the future. Some iconoclastic minds say that this has been the case because there is practically no difference between a Democrat and a Republican at the present time.

Senator Carraway of Arkansas has a bill pending which seeks to stop the buying and selling of cotton futures. The bill ought to pass, but the speculators, those feasting off the farmers' toil, won't let it.

The new apportionment bill will undoubtedly pass which will cut down the congressional representation in many states. Your state of Mississippi will lose two members. My, what a scramble there is ahead in those states which will lose one or more congressmen, when the redistricting bill comes before their legislatures. There are many who think that the country would be better off if the membership were cut to half of what it is today.
